Art and Worship

Because of its creative nature, art is truly a reflection of God's creative spirit. Through the creation and the perception of beauty, we praise and celebrate the creative power of God. Art is, in this respect, an aspect of worship.

Dorothy Schulz Englehart began painting in 1973 and has studied painting in workshops all over the world. She graduated from Oberlin College with a major in English literature and comes from a family that includes several artists. She has received numerous awards from the Indiana Artists Club, the Hoosier Salon, and the Watercolor Society of Indiana, and her work has been widely exhibited. Dorothy works in acrylic, watercolor, collage, and casein. She is particularly interested in color and shape. "I'm inspired by the beauty of the landscape – and of people in landscape," Dorothy says. She particularly enjoys working in semi-abstraction and abstraction. She may be contacted at 317/846-7295, or through Ted Englehart at tenglehart@cambridgecapitalmgmt.com.

Ted Englehart is a businessman and venture capitalist who minored in art at DePauw University. His academic work was interrupted by service as an Air Force pilot during the Second World War; he completed his work in business at Butler University. His family includes several notable artists, and Ted's love for art accompanied him through his successful business career. He has attended numerous art workshops around the country and has exhibited in many juried competitions. He works in watercolor, pen and ink, and pastels. Ted finds the use of his creative gifts tremendously rewarding; his favorite subjects are architectural and historical. He may be contacted at 317/846-7295, or at tenglehart@cambridgecapitalmgmt.com.
